CedarCrestone Releases CedarCrestone 2011–2012 HR Systems Survey – European Highlights, Revealing Unique Insights

ALPHARETTA, GEORGIA – October 31, 2011 – Since 1997, CedarCrestone has conducted the leading survey of Human Resources (HR) technologies adoption in organizations around the world and published results in an annual white paper. This year, 9% of the 727 worldwide respondents were based in Europe. The CedarCrestone 2011–2012 HR Systems Survey – European Highlights brief, available for download at www.CedarCrestone.com/annual_survey.php, analyzes and explores the data provided by European respondents, giving insight into what is unique among European organizations and their HR technology adoption, deployment, initiatives underway, vendor choices, and more.

An overall conclusion supported by the data is that European organizations have lower adoption than other regions of almost all HR technologies we track—they are a bit more cautious or they do not have the resources to move to new technologies as rapidly as other regions. However, European organizations put more focus on workforce support through their adoption of competency management and career development talent management solutions.

The worldwide results, which serve as context for this brief, are also available for free download at www.CedarCrestone.com/annual_survey.php.
